

Transportation

About This Area of Practice

We have over 50 years of combined legal experience in all aspects of the transportation industry, providing a wide range of legal services to our clients in this field, both locally and abroad.

Our clients include a broad variety of players in the transportation field, including passenger and cargo carriers, insurance interests, local shippers / exporters and those suffering loss or injury in vehicle-related incidents.

Our services include litigation and dispute resolution support for virtually all types of transportation-related disputes (whether commercial in nature or claims-related), as well as drafting of key documentation and corporate support. Our services are tailored to the specific needs of a number of industry sectors, including marine, aviation, rail and motor vehicle transport.
